New President
Miaja Plans To Give Up Madrid

HENDAYE, France, March 7.—Gen. Jose Miaja, who saved Madrid from outright capture just 28 months ago, made ready today to surrender the city and end the Spanish civil war as quickly as a "worthy peace" could be engineered. He acted as head of a new defence government.

Now New Spain Head

GEN. MIAJA known as the "Savior of Madrid," named president of the new Republican government.

Warplanes
Scan City
In Revolt

MADRID, March 7.—Warplanes were used over Madrid today in an effort to crush an uprising of "home troops" said to have been inspired by Communists.

MADRID, March 7.—A revolt against the new government of General Jose Miaja broke out among troops in the eastward of Madrid today but the government announced it had control of the uprising.

Several battalions of troops apparently were involved in the revolt, which authoritative sources attributed to Communists. There was cannon and machine-gun fire in outlying sections and isolated snipers kept up intermittent fire within the city proper.

HOPE RAISED

The rise of Miaja, "Savior of Madrid," to head a national defence government and his plea last night for a "worthy peace" had raised hopes among most of the population for an early end to hostilities.

Picked machine-gun units guarded strategic points in the city pursuant to Miaja's stern orders for the suppression of outbreaks against his peace policy.

MIAJA FLEADS

MIAJA, in an obvious reference last night to the Communists, declared his group would have need for peace earlier except for pressure by a "certain political party."

The veteran strategist known as "the savior of Madrid" assumed the presidency of the tottering republic last night, 23 hours after a junta led by his representative, General Segismundo Casado, had driven out Premier Juan Negrin and a group of ministers determined on war to the bitter end.

Miaja expected to open negotiations at once for a surrender to Nationalist General Franco conditioned by the safe conduct into exile for Republicans leaders and a promise that Madrid would be spared a triumphal entry by Italian troops in Franco's ranks.

With Negrin and his cabinet in French refuge, the Republic fleet headed for internment and disarming at Bizerte, Tunisia, and with Communist leaders under virtual arrest in Madrid, Miaja was in a position to negotiate a "solder's peace."

END IN SIGHT

Such an end to the 2½ year war was foreboded by Miaja last night in his first broadcast speech as president of the Republican Spain, who he declared:

"As men of good will and honor we have waited but a year as honorable as the war has been, for our day is the honor of Spain. We want peace but a worthy peace."

Miaja added that "we want this peace realized with maximum rapidity."

Dispatches from Madrid indicated Miaja and his new government were in complete control of the capital. The suppression of Communists apparently was based on the fact it was from them that the greatest danger to the republic came for a bitter end fight with France.

ALL FLEE SPAIN

Nearly all members of the deposed Negrin government and some Communist leaders had fled Spain. After flying to Toulouse with ex-foreign minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Negrin went on to Paris by train. The noted woman Communist leader had fled Spain.

Barruati had flown to Gran Alcala, where with an undersecretary of the Negrin cabinet she was held by French authorities.

WELDON, Sask., March 7.—Hon. Robert Weir, federal minister of agriculture in the Bennett Government, was killed today when a load of grain upset on him about a mile from his farm near here. He was 37.

24 HOURS IS ALL NEEDED IN PREPARATIONS

By HARRY L. PERCY
British United Press, Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, March 7.—The leaders of British heavy industry have drawn up plans to put their factories on a war-time basis in 24-hour time.

With the government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has been rushing preparations to mobilize every resource against the danger of aerial attack, the industrial leaders have prepared to act with unprecedented speed when and if the next war comes.

The iron and steel industries have perfected a plan of co-ordination that will enable a turn-out of 14,000,000 tons annually—a figure never before achieved.

Special evacuation plans have been worked out to enable munitions. Committees of supply for labor and materials have been organized. The coal industry has made arrangements to prevent a strike by miners to the army as they did in the world war.

The automobile factories are geared to switch over to airplane construction. The oil industry is also making arrangements. At the oil and gasoline reserves, particularly along the Thames, special fire precautions have been installed.

HOUSE BEATS DOUGGAN MOVE ON REVISION

By a vote of 45 to 13 the legislature on Monday defeated a non-confidence motion moved by D. M. Duggan, Alberta Conservative leader. Mr. Duggan's motion was that in view of the estimated budget deficit of $1,115,000 with no provision made to finance it and the increase in the public debt, that the legislature should return the estimates to the government with the instruction that they be revised downward.

In the vote the government members stood solidly to defeat the non-confidence vote.

The supporting motion were four Liberals, two Conservatives, one United Farmers and three Independent Social Credit members.

He urged that the Alberta public debt of about $157,000,000 should be reduced. He said that in this amount was about $28,000,000 owing to the Dominion government for relief purposes. All or the major part of this amount should be cancelled. The whole of the public debt, funded and unfunded, should be reduced.

Babes In Toyland — 1939 —

LONDON, March 7.—Britain's Air Raid Precautions organization today prepared for distribution of 1,200,000 free gas helmet "toys" to British infants as a war-time protection against gas attacks.

The organization's headquarters said distribution would start in three weeks and urged that parents teach babies to wear them as toys until they reach the age of two, when they will be old enough for gas masks.

With mica fronts, the new gas helmets are made to fit snugly over babies' heads during the time parents would be rushing them to air raid refuges in an air attack.

A belated attachment would supply air to the wearer. Experts were said to have tried them on 300 babies.

Manning Flays Money Barons In Stirring Address

Continuance of Budget Debate Finds Provincial Secretary Justifying Social Credit Government for Financial Security

Playing the financial moguls and money barons for piling up a heavy millions of debt around the necks of the people, Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry, in continuing the budget debate in the legislature on Monday declared "that if the present government had never done anything else than bring to a permanent end that mad orgy of trying to borrow ourselves into a false prosperity, it would have more than justified the confidence placed in it by the public in this province in 1935."

Mr. Manning occupied the floor of the house for a large part of the day. He flayed the government's action since it came into office in 1935, but continued to praise the government's action which has enabled the province to emerge from the house on March 27 by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer.

Turning to consideration of Mr. Duggan's criticism of the budget and charges of increased taxation, Mr. Manning said the present government came into power under the former United Farmers of Alberta government budget of 1930-35. No change in the Social Credit government could be held responsible for that budget.

CHECKS FIGURES
In addition, said Mr. Manning, he had checked the figures of $137,000,000 quoted by Mr. Duggan as the income of the province when the Social Credit government took office and found the figure was not correct. The figure was the 1934-35 figure.

$141,498.5 TAX REVENUE ON AMUSEMENT

Edmonton Leads
Receives more than 100,000 admissions this year.

Edmonton leads in the collection of amusement tax revenue for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1938, totaling $141,498.5, according to the annual report of this branch of the provincial secretary's department, made available on Tuesday by Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry.

This city provided the greatest amusement centre of the province, contributing $52,247 by the operation of its theatres, based on 2,261,113 admissions.

Calgary came second with $43,479 in tax, based on 1,538,987 admissions. It contributed $10,953 by way of this tax; Medicine Hat contributed $8,408, while revenue from other points totaled $27,608. The province as a whole recorded $382,946 administrative as against $1,749,276 in 1927 and $2,574,393 in 1928.

In 1937 total provincial revenue from provincial taxation was $135,014, and in 1938 totaled $135,617. In the 1938-1939 fiscal year estimated returns from the amusement tax are $150,000.

There is before the legislature at the present time a bill providing for the collection and assessment of tax, which was introduced during the war period, being covered by one ticket instead of separate admissions, and is in the present practice.

SOLONS SEEK ANSWERS TO MANY QUERIES

Heavy series of questions and motions for returns appeared on the legislative order paper on Tuesday, with the information sought including road expenditure, youth training projects, and other matters.

E. J. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader, introduced a resolution requesting the percentage of road construction done by equipment owned by the public works department on contract under the Dominion government.

He also asked to know the municipal district representative on the highway board since resignation last Aug. 10 of John Gair, how many people have received training under the Dominion government youth training project, how many have been placed in employment, and how many training centres have been organized with names of instructors.

Dr. Walter Morrison, Liberal, asked details on the supervision of co-operative associations, together with personal details such as the names of the members.

HUGE SUM TO BE SPENT IN OIL DRILLING

$11,215,000 Will Be Cost Of Actual Operations This Year

CALGARY, March 7.—A record sum of $11,215,000, including the cost of the drilling of wells, is to be spent in actual oil well-drilling operations in Alberta this year, said the Calgary Daily Herald today.

The newspaper continues: "The $11,215,000 does not include possible operations in Alberta by Shell Oil Company of California."

At present 24 wells are drilling in Turner Valley. In addition six wells are listed as "waiting" at various depths. Three other wells at least, are to be drilled in the Brown-McCoy-Brown group. Standard Oil of California. It is expected will drill at least three wells on home acreage, in northern Turner Valley. Royal Canadian Company will drill 19 wells, and there are more wells to be drilled by independent companies.

"Besides there, there are approximately 20 wells in the Turner Valley area which are being drilled by independent companies."

"By the end of 1939, it is hoped, Alberta's oil potential will be built up to such a degree that construction of a pipeline from Turner Valley to the Pacific coast or to the lakehead will be justified."

The newspaper estimated cost of drilling each Turner Valley well at $100,000.

Manning Makes Stirring Address Playing Financiers

budget and therefore not a true picture of provincial income at the time the present government took office.

The actual income for the last budget of the former government was not $15,700,000 but $15,575,152, said Mr. Manning.

It should not be overlooked, added Mr. Manning, that Mr. Duggan had compared actual income in 1934-35 with the estimated income in 1934-35.

In the present government, this was hardly fair, he said, because in 1934-35 the estimated revenue was $10,000,000 more than the actual amount collected and in 1935-36 it was again over $500,000 more than actual collection.

In other words, the estimated revenue of the 1935-36 budget was $1,000,000 in excess of the actual revenue of 1935-36.

It was an increase in the budget, not a decrease, as Mr. Manning said, of $1,000,000 or an increase of $2,243,740.

Then Mr. Manning turned to sources of the increase and decrease. They were natural increases due to developments in the economy.

He cited the gasoline tax with an increase of $59,094; our income tax, $308,822; petroleum and natural gas, $184,447; petroleum and natural gas royalties, $520,023; and revenue from liquor sales, $75,132.

He said the government raised the rate on beer in 1935-36 from 10 to 12 cents, and the natural gas revenue increased $2,000,000.

Additional revenue was derived from banks, loan and trust companies and this showed an increase of $75,132, for a total of $2,447,380.

ACTUAL REVENUE

Reducing the total increase in revenue for 1935-36 over the 1934-35 actual from the increased revenue, Mr. Manning said, the amount collected from general taxation decreased by $208,778.

This had been achieved despite reduction in public services.

As an example of decreased expenditure, Mr. Manning cited the costs of the insurance branch. Administration had been cut $20,000.

Consolidation of government insurance had saved $742,859 and automobile insurance had been reduced $1,666,605.

Concluding, Mr. Manning declared either a way must be devised to distribute "our abundance without inequality of money at all or else we must make available to our people a supply of money tokens unrestricted up to the point where they equate the normal prices of the entire output of our efficient production system."

PROPER COURSE AGREED

"The first of these proposals is ineffective and inefficient and therefore our firm conviction that the latter is the proper course."

Mr. Manning devoted a considerable portion of his address to the present situation and the impact carried by the people through the heavy interest rates.

He defended the government's action in placing a moratorium on debt and dealt with the attitude of bondholders in the action of the government in reducing interest on its indebtedness.

In part, Mr. Manning's speech was as follows:

Just as in the case of the individual's dilemma the palliative advanced by so-called orthodox economists is their policy of foreign markets and sabotage, so in the case of governments, they have an equally impracticable and disastrous policy as their proposal for meeting the problem, I refer, Mr. Speaker, to the policy of borrowing.

It is a well known fact that this has been the common procedure of all governments across Canada, with the exception of the present government of this province. To my mind it is a policy fraught with such disastrous ultimate consequences, that it could be adopted only by governments prepared to sacrifice the best interests of their people by choosing the pathway of least resistance when confronted with the hopeless incapacity of our so-called orthodox financial system to sustain itself.

DEFINITE ADVANTAGES

There is no doubt but that the policy of government borrowing has several definite advantages from the standpoint of party politics.

It makes very definite political propaganda for a government to be able to say to the electors that he has been able to carry out his difficult terms without increasing taxation, that he has been able to maintain and even improve his services without asking the public to contribute more.

But, Mr. Speaker, I contend that when such propaganda is made possible only by a policy which means adding both present and future generations with a crushing debt of interest and the pyramided interest charges, then it becomes the lowest form of political hypocrisy and deserves the condemnation of a justly indignant people.

I have often found it difficult to comprehend the apparent viewpoint of the members on your left in regard to this important question.

BITTERLY ATTACKED

I have heard them bitterly attack the government's moratorium on private debt on the ground that it was merely a postponement of the day of reckoning, and in principle I agree with that contention. But when they say they are not in favour of it, I am surely entitled to every rational person today that for governments to continue their policy of borrowing indefinitely in order to finance their affairs, is nothing more than the postponement of the day of reckoning, and the whole financial structure will collapse and the whole population will be the order of the day.

It does not remedy the chronic deficit in our present financial structure and it delays, but makes more certain, ultimate repudiation and collapse at a price which is too great for our people to pay.

The cry of reckless borrowing and wasteful spending that characterized the previous administration in this province is an open book in which all may read a record that constitutes so serious an indictment against the Liberal party in particular, that it was never again going for public opinion in Alberta.

Each member of the Liberal opposition apparently has a private little blue Social Credit Manual, from which, as the Honourable the Minister of Finance has told us, they quote so frequently and so unreligiously.

I would like to suggest that they each add to their library another interesting volume.

It is a volume in blue and we will match the one they already have. But it was not published here. It was published by the Alberta-Illinois Bank of Canada.

I refer to the Bank of Canada report on the financial position of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, published by the Bank of Canada.

In the light of the report, I submit, Mr. Speaker, that the Liberal party's good many years to live down.

In the light of the experience of this province and every other province in Canada, there cannot be advanced one sound argument to prove that a policy of continued borrowing can ultimately produce beneficial results in any way commensurate with the fear-price which must be paid.

ESTABLISHED CUSTOM

Those who champion continued borrowing are therefore reduced to the childish argument that it has become "an established custom" which should not be disturbed for fear it might cause detrimental repercussions.

This is the flimsy argument to which those who oppose this government's policy on borrowing have been reduced.

Mr. Manning here read an extract from the Bondholders' report.

Mr. Speaker, I contend that it is the solemn duty of every legislator to decide which is the most serious and the most detrimental to the public welfare, the temporary repudiations of some sane redemptive and ultimate inevitable bankruptcy and financial collapse with all its disastrous consequences.

I have no hesitation in saying the words "inevitable bankruptcy" because borrowing carries with it another policy which must ultimately bring about the self-destruction of the system that perpetuates it.

In the realm of private debt we are today overwhelmed with concrete examples of the vicious operation of this principle of usury. It is no longer unusual to hear of debtors who have repaid their original loans twice over, but still owe more than their original debt.

GOVERNMENT PROTECTION

Thousands of such cases in this province today, in addition to that which they have already paid, would be ultimately disappointed of their remaining property were it not for the protective debt legislation of this government.

Returning to our own province, we are frequently criticized by the supporters of the old line parties for our arbitrary reduction of the interest rates on our public debt.

But in view of the inevitable results of the operation of the vicious principle of usury I repeat what I said in regard to our policy of conquest of borrowing.

In Debate

glorified credit can be obtained, and the methods by which it must be secured.

In other words, we have imposed upon ourselves an economic and financial order by which both the State and the individual are placed in an impossible position.

On the one hand we are told that we cannot do anything without money, and on the other hand we are told that we can only obtain money from certain sources and in the way we are told we have proven to be hopelessly inadequate to supply our requirements.

No wonder Bernard Shaw, after considering such an absurd state of affairs, said he was in a quandary as to whether he should defend the lunatic asylum of the other place.

But, amid all the mad chaos and confusion that financial tyranny has produced, there is today one ray of hope springing to illuminate the sunken ships of this present age and to herald the dawning of a new day of public enlightenment.

ALBERT H. ROBSON,
Art Director of Toronto, Is Dead

TORONTO, March 7.—Albert H. Robson, 77, outstanding in the field of Canadian art and literature and vice-president of the Toronto Art Gallery, died Monday of a heart condition. Mr. Robson returned home from his last week where he had received treatment for an ailing fractured two months.

Since 1912 he was art director for Hogg and Mann Ltd., printers and publishers, and held office of vice-president at the time of his death. He began his career as a newspaper reporter and commercial artist and was with the former Toronto News and Toronto World.

R.A.F. Enlistments
LONDON, March 7.—Royal Air Force enlistments for the week ended March 4 totalled 840, compared with 725 during the same week in 1938, it was announced Monday.

ABILITY TO PAY
Surely in the matter of public debt some consideration should be given to the vastly reduced ability of our people to pay just as in the adjusting of public debts that factor is accepted as a fair and equitable consideration. I submit, Mr. Speaker, that no government with the welfare of its people at heart could accept such an attitude and continue to let its people be crushed beneath the load of excessive interest charges. The interests of the 750,000 people of this province must surely take some priority over the interest on $150,000,000 worth of debt.

I want to make it quite clear that we have every regard for the so-called sanctity of contractual obligations, but we likewise contend that the humors of our people and the preservation of human relationships are also sacred and entitled to consideration at least on a par with that which is demanded by the demand full weight when collecting their pound of flesh.

My second reason for contending that our reduction of the interest rate was proper, is one to be considered from the standpoint of the bondholders themselves, and most important consideration.

There is abroad today a steadily growing conviction that millions of dollars of public debt incurred under our present system of high interest rates, never will be paid.

I predict that it will be the wholesale repudiation of not only interest but of principle as well, and I am fully convinced that a number of our so-called sound business Liberal governments in this country who are continuing to borrow at high interest rates are likewise convinced in their own minds that such will ultimately be the case.

OPPOSE REPUDIATION
The Alberta Social Credit government is diametrically opposed to the repudiation of public debt. All we are asking is a reasonable adjustment in interest rates and a fair chance to so order our internal affairs that we can remove from our people the detrimental restrictions of our present financial order, and thereby enable them not only to provide a higher standard of living for themselves but also to liquidate their entire external obligations.

In fairness, Mr. Speaker, I ask which of the two courses is the more honorable to go on borrowing at high interest rates, knowing that ultimately you will be forced to repudiate both principle and interest—or to adjust interest in conformity with ability to pay and then be prepared to honor your entire debt in full.

ESTABLISHES PREMISES
Now, Mr. Speaker, in my analysis thus far I have endeavored to establish two premises, first, the fact that under our present order both the State and the individuals who compose the State are governed and restricted in their operations by the number of intangible money tokens at their disposal, and second, by their physical capacity to produce their material requirements.

And, secondly, the forced dependence upon money tokens is serious evidence of the present order, and both the State and the individuals composing the State are restricted as to the source from which the

Rules Laid Down For Free Air Raid Shelter: Some Must Purchase

British naval and military cable to the Edmonton Bulletin.

LONDON, March 7.—If your income is under $1200 a year, the government will lend you a free place to sleep for the duration of the next war, but otherwise you must buy your own.

Anybody else who wants one must pay for it, but the government cannot say how much it will cost.

TO MAKE FORTS
Later on people will begin turning back houses, blocks of flats and tenements and other buildings into fortresses by means of steel sheets and structural support for basements.

Three other schemes, in which the government is directly interested, are evacuation, food, and a national register.

On January 9, the ministry of health announced a plan for evacuating danger areas with a total population of 1,200,000. The plan split England, Scotland and Wales into three groups:

1.—Evacuation areas.
2.—Neutral areas.
3.—Reception areas.

Evacuation areas were those urban areas from which the population would be moved—compulsorily unless good reasons were advanced for staying.

NEUTRAL ZONES
Neutral zones are those which neither would be evacuated nor used as reception areas. Other areas are rural neutral zones, assumed to be reception areas.

If and when the time comes, it is assumed that about half a million children will be evacuated from London by school, as was planned during the September crisis. For the adults, an elaborate or under, unless they have more than two children; in that case the income limit goes up $200 for each additional child. They must live in houses with no basements, and not more than two stories.

The shelters will be loaned to persons with incomes of $1250

Anybody else who wants one must pay for it, but the government cannot say how much it will cost.

NEUTRAL ZONES
Neutral zones are those which neither would be evacuated nor used as reception areas. Other areas are rural neutral zones, assumed to be reception areas.

If and when the time comes, it is assumed that about half a million children will be evacuated from London by school, as was planned during the September crisis. For the adults, an elaborate transport plan is being drawn up using train, motor-coach and lorry.

Food (defence plans) department has been set up by the ministry of agriculture to control the supply and distribution of food in wartime. Ration cards for the staple foods, such as bread, meat, butter, sugar and tea, similar to those used in the World War, were printed months ago in Illinois. It is claimed under the new organization long food queues will not be necessary.

IN DIVISIONS
The department has divided Britain into 18 divisions, with a food committee in each town or district. These committees, mainly composed of local tradesmen, would have absolute power in an emergency. One thousand five hundred local officers have already been appointed.

The government is quietly hoarding essential commodities, such as wheat, sugar and white oil. The granaries and warehouses are already bursting with supplies for the winter at least six months, it is estimated.

It is claimed that if war broke out there would be sufficient supplies for everybody until a system of supplies from the empire and elsewhere could get into operation.

For this purpose the merchant marine is being equipped with gun platforms and anti-mine Paravane gear. The naval estimates for 1939-40 show a total of 100,000 for this work.

Next: Private preparations for defence.

Pot Of Gold
TORONTO, Ont. March 7.—Eleanor Johns, 16, played hockey to rummage through a dump heap. She found as old canvas belt containing $8,810 gold pieces. Authorities, upon the owner, banked the money for her.

Unless automobile tires are changed systematically, the right rear wheel is the first to show signs of wear.

FOR A FIVE TROLLING LIFE
A FISHERMAN finds in a fine, silvery trolling line, is made of "Model", an alloy of Nickel and Copper—tough, strong, rust-proof. Somewhere out the Atlantic a chain 4200 foot long drags a 10½ ton plow which buries transatlantic cables in the ocean's floor. It was forged from steel containing 35% Nickel—light in weight, but more than twice as strong as ordinary chains of the same size.

When alloyed with iron, steel or other metals, Nickel gives increased strength, toughness, hardness, and resistance to wear and corrosion. So industry the world over makes use of Canadian Nickel. A locomotive in India, a coal cutter in a British mine, a truck in Africa and a dredge in Malay all operate with breakages because of Canadian Nickel.

The sale of Nickel to peaceful industry brings money back to Canada. This money pays wages not only to those who work in the mines, smelters and refineries, but also to those Canadians who produce the food, cut the timber, manufacture the equipment and supplies, and man the railroads which feed Canada's Nickel industry.

FIRE MARSHAL PROBES FATAL HALIFAX BLAZE

By JACK TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX, March 7.—A hotel fireman dominated the night before the disastrous Queen hotel fire last week told him, "there'll be a lot more than me out of a job tomorrow."

John Desmond, acting manager, told a fire marshal's investigation today.

Desmond, who said he dismissed the fireman for drinking, quoted the fireman as saying, "If I'm out of a job, there'll be a lot more than me out of a job tomorrow."

Then the hotel official leaned over and whispered to the inquiry photographer the remainder of Desmond's remarks, purportedly made a few hours before fire swept through the hotel and claimed at least 28 lives.

Resident Of Edmonton For 26 Years Passes At Age 66

The late Mr. Derbyshire had been on holiday at the coast since early this year, and was visiting a married daughter, Mrs. Griff Morris of Vancouver, at the time of his death. Mrs. Derbyshire was on holiday with him.

Through The Mill

Somebody once remarked that hugar has no counter. Which may have been the reason that a brace of him appeared before the bench in city police court Tuesday on charges that are politely described as vagrancy. One of the charges on the charge, will be for her daily bread in the women's section at the Fort Saskatchewan Industrial house for the next two months. The house was granted an adjournment. The wages of sin aren't very high.

One of those cases that burn up the taxpayers and make it tough for the honest relief recipient took several minutes of the court's time. A chivalry who had been in the mill more than was coming to him from the relief department appeared, pleaded guilty, promised to make restitution if given a chance, and was given suspended sentence of 12 months.

A certain young man was charged with attempted theft last fall, convicted and sentenced to serve three months in jail. He appeared, aided by his father, the sentence was commuted to a fine of $100. The time the young man appeared for sentence on the fine, the court found the fine was $100 and costs with the option of a month's detention.

And the man who was convicted of doing an act liable to contribute to the delinquency of his 15-year-old daughter was sentenced to 18 months in jail. Had there been any contributory evidence, he would have faced another, far more serious charge.

Trolley Bus Pole Tenders Will Be Called For Soon

Tenders for the erection of poles and overhead wires for the projected six-mile trolley bus route likely will be called for shortly by R. J. Gibb, city commissioner. The commissioner said he had received a letter from the city of Winnipeg, in which it was stated that the city was giving satisfaction with operation of its new trolley bus system.

A new basketball has come to England! It was just a week or so ago that the North American version of men's basketball was introduced to England as a regular sport at Harrington. It met with a response that was generally favorable. The idea is to make it a game to suit some of the less ardent after the hockey season is over. It seems that plans are just about complete to launch a London league of six clubs in the middle of May and play two matches a week.

One writer expressed the opinion that basketball is too easy to score and that the game would be improved a great deal by making the scoring more difficult. He also believes that it is a game that the National Fitness Council should back for its physical training value. Furthermore this writer is most favorably impressed by the rule that four personal fouls send a player out of the game.

Herewith is an excerpt from one report on the initial presentation: "Played on the lines of football, it has been developed so that the characteristics of the former (import) English game have been lost. Highly trained athletes—five a side—are used, and the work they get through would be enough to make even an ice-hockey player shudder."

The match that night was an American side against a team of players known as the Almonds who are either Canadians or Americans and the Rochdale Grays, all Englishmen, kept the 1,300 crowd in a high state of excitement.

The Almonds, however, showed up only for a second half as a goal was scored or the ball went off the side line, and for a 19-second rest on two occasions, were fast and exciting enough to keep the impression that this game will go over big provided the building in which it is played is not as large as the Harrington arena.

Grads Back In Edmonton

EDMONTON'S GRADS arrived back home yesterday afternoon from a tour through eastern Canada and part of the United States. Since going on 11 days and seven victories against stellar teams in the story in a nutshell.

Captain Percy Page believes that the trip has definitely stirred up some fresh interest in hockey and that the team will be another Grand champion tour would be met with wide open arms.

Kate Dunn and Mabel Hamilton did not return with the club, playing in the east to visit with relatives. It is not expected that they will arrive back in time for the big city-wide reception for the Grads in the Municipal on Wednesday evening. Tickets to this event are limited to 500. They have been on sale at Mike's News Stand and have gone fast. The evening will be informal after the presentation, the object being to let as many people as possible personally meet the Grads at the hotel.

Ski Fund Planned

THE EDMONTON SKI COUNCIL is laying groundwork now for a fund that will enable any citizen to compete in the major Alberta and championship events. It is a fund that promises to inject new initiative into this already fascinating sport. A pure way to keep the boys and girls working for improved form.

This fund will be started with the proceeds from the annual dance of the Edmonton Ski Council which will be staged in the Thrift Building on Friday, March 10. The notices of the event stipulate that sports wear is to be worn, but I'll only say against a thin park that the girls will not do much skidding in ski boots.

Shorties Off the Wires

R. F. DALRYMPLE is red-hot over the recent decision of the Canadian Football Union to eliminate the domestic junior championship. The Rovers are circulating every junior football club in Canada and asking them to form a domestic junior football association, an affiliate with the A.F.C. of C.

Quint Vennema, the Junior age gridders, has a different view. They complain that the Vancouver Parks Board is dominated by men with very pronounced athletic accents and that English ruggers teams are given the pick of the playing field while the athletes in the Canadian game have to take what's left.

Carl Hudson covered a game from the press box the other day in the expedition. He happened to be a better beetle than two teams of sport writers. Carl didn't like the sport writing racket at all. "Armed with a typewriter, what can you lose?" he asks. The answer is plenty. All your friends, your girl and maybe most of your good looks—some of the players.

Francis Ricker has another sister in his baseball machine. This one is a young Dick Siler, son of the famous George. Dick had a chance to sign with the St. Louis Browns, but turned them down because he wanted to start under the same coach that gave him dad's. He's with Ricker. Apparently the Silvers are one family that do not consider the Canada a change-gang.

THE "SEA OF MATRIMONY". Hemlocker, a large body of water near Travemunde, Germany, contains water to a depth of 115 feet. Beyond that depth and reaching to the bottom, the water is briny and intensely. Sailors have often compared this lake to the Sea of Matrimony, sweet on the surface and bitter on the bottom.

Lethbridge Wins 4-3 to Take Series

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 7.—Lethbridge Maple Leafs smashed through to the Alberta Senior League final as they routed Olds 4-3 in a rugged game that produced everything in hockey thrills for a crazed mob of close to 3,500 fans here last night.

Led by shiftie Bob Kirkpatrick, who was in on every one of the Leaf markers, Lethbridge came from behind twice to tie the count before finally pulling ahead and then tossing back a desperate Olds assault in the final minutes of play. The win gave Leafs the best of three series, two games to one.

Ken Stewart, slick handling defenceman, led the Leaf markers with a pair of goals. Jimmie Melndoe got the first Leaf marker and big Jack Milford tallied the winner when he sent a long shot whizzing past Goals Gordon Robbin from near center ice. Eddie O'Keefe, Russ Alper and "Phat" Proulx scored for Olds.

O'Keefe netted the only goal of the first period when he took the puck from Suberland inside the lead blue line and flicked a shot into the left corner. Melndoe equalized when he converted Kirkpatrick's pass at the half-way mark of the second period when he sent a shot past Goals Gordon Robbin from near center ice. The Leafs gave Olds the lead once more when he slipped through on Young after taking a double relay, Warshawski to Alper.

GOAL JUDGE BANNED
Leafs flew to the attack and Kirkpatrick led a forward pass to Stewart for the equalizer. The defence men bunt around the goal line and shot the rubber under Robbin, who partly blocked it. Olds did the goal hockey, but the officials pulled the goal judge who jumped his cut loose with a shot that shaded the leg of an Olds defenceman. The goal judge was ejected. Warshawski was serving time when Leafs counted their third goal and went ahead for good in the game. Stewart was the sniper, bounding a shot in off the back of the net.

GANDHI QUILTS FASTING AFTER DISPUTE ENDS

Quarrel With Native Ruler Settled Following Intervention

RAJPOOT, India, March 7.—The dispute between the Nationalist Congress and the native ruler of Rajpothana, which caused Gandhi to start "fast unto death" was settled today.

Immediately Gandhi ended his fast of 48 hours and 25 minutes. He drank a glass of sweet orange juice. The smothering of the dispute since he started the fast just over four days ago after drinking a cup of hot goat's milk.

MOTHER SETON

Intervention by the vicar, the Marquis of Lifford, brought an accord between the Nationalist Congress and the 25-year-old Thakore Sahi, Shri Dhanrajprasadji, whom Gandhi called "my son."
